Air Conditioning Firm Helps Raise Sporting Dream For Local Club

North West air conditioning business, air cool engineering (NI) Ltd has agreed financial support to help fund a local team of 19 athletes and 8 coaches, to travel to the National Games in Limerick.

Foyle Special Olympic Club has been successful in securing nearly 20 athletes from their team, to represent Ulster in this summer's National Games. The Derry club which now has over 100 members, has athletes participating in Football, 10 Pin Bowling and Swimming. With a dedicated and consistent training schedule throughout the week, the Foyle SOC has had athletes selected for competitions at Area, Regional and National level since the club's formation in 2003. The team has also developed some talent through coaches, with Declan O'Neill selected as the Head Coach for Ulster for Football and Naomi Thompson as Ulster's Head 10 Pin Bowling Coach.

Martin Mullan, from air cool engineering said:

'air cool engineering is delighted to support the Foyle Special Olympic Club. Our offer of financial assistance will hopefully help fund travel and accommodation expenses to the summer National Games in Limerick. The sporting achievements of its athletes at Club, Area and Regional level, are testament to the dedicated coaching excellence and support from families. air cool engineering wishes all the athletes luck in the coming Games and has no doubt they will be returning to the North West with proof of their achievements!'

Foyle Special Olympic Club is organising a number of sponsorship activities to help fund athletes and coaches travelling to the National Games. Businesses who would also like to support the team should telephone the Club's Chairperson, on 077 651 187 15.
